

Map and Parking

Seventeenth International Conference on Cognitive and Neural Systems

June 4 – 7, 2013

Search for “CNS” on the Boston University campus map <http://www.bu.edu/maps> to see the conference location at 677 Beacon Street, just west of Kenmore Square.

Parking is available at a limited number of University lots on a pay-on-entry basis. Fees vary slightly among lots, but average ~$20 per day.

Please note that area parking lots run by LAZ are independently owned and are not University-related lots. You can park there if they have space available, but the fee structure will be different.

The street meters in front of the conference location cost a quarter for every fifteen minutes, with a two-hour time limit. It is possible to find meters on campus that are a little more reasonable than this, but parking in Boston is always a challenge.
